• Lyman S.V. Judson and Ellen Mackechnie Judson Student Award in the Creative Arts: Undergraduate one award of $1,500.
IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Eligibility
Only University of Wisconsin–Madison faculty, staff, and students are eligible for these awards. Further eligibility restrictions are detailed in each award call.

Instructions
See each award call for instructions on what to submit as part of an awards application or nomination. Please read the application instructions carefully before submitting your proposal. You must provide all requested information and supporting materials as detailed in the award call. Incomplete applications will not be reviewed.

You may include work samples (images, videos, recordings, writing samples, etc.) to support the proposed project. Selected samples of earlier work are optional. Send no more than 6 separate files, digital format preferred. Materials will be returned upon request.

Selection Process
The Arts Awards review committee will consist of five faculty members, to include past recipients representing different areas of the creative arts. A student representative will participate in the review of applications for student awards. Applicants should keep in mind that committee members may not have discipline-specific knowledge of their field, and write their proposals accordingly.

Award recipients will receive notification in December 2018 and will be honored at the annual awards ceremony on Tuesday, May 7th, 2019.

Post-Award
Award recipients will be expected to:
- Inform the Division of the Arts of any events related to their funded work and/or of the completion of their projects.
- Credit the Division of the Arts in any public presentation of their funded work, including displaying the logo.
- Submit tangible documentation of completed work within 6 months of project completion.

The Division of the Arts will send specific guidelines and logo files to successful applicants after awards decisions are announced.

Sample Proposals
Past successful award applications are available upon request.

CALL FOR NOMINATIONS

JOYCE J. AND GERALD A. BARTELL AWARD IN THE ARTS

Eligibility: Faculty or academic staff of UW–Madison

DEADLINE: NOVEMBER 9, 2018 3:00pm

The UW–Madison Division of the Arts is accepting nominations for the 2019 Joyce J. and Gerald A. Bartell Award in the Arts. The Bartell Award recognizes and honors the achievements of UW–Madison faculty and staff across a broad range of activities and services in the creative arts including the areas of outreach, public service, and/or other enterprises involving the larger community. The award of $6,500 may be used for teaching, research, and public service activities.

A nominee's achievements should constitute meritorious contributions beyond the expected duties of one's position, which might include: lifelong education in the arts (e.g., Madison and Wisconsin-centered programming such as workshops, conferences, institutes, etc.); leadership roles on arts councils, professional organizations, advisory boards, etc.; arts education programming in the schools and other community agencies; creative programming for educationally disadvantaged audiences in rural or urban settings, and/or for multi-cultural communities; or artistic performances before new audiences.

The Division of the Arts will accept only one nomination from any department or program unit. Since this award is given annually to a single recipient, departments should consider reactivating previous nominations of strong candidates. If a department has submitted a nomination within the last two years, the chair may simply submit a new cover letter and updated career summary to reactivate the file. The Bartell Award will not be granted within the same discipline more than two years in a row. Past recipients are ineligible to receive the award.

Nominations must include:

- A cover letter of up to two pages from the nominating department or program chair that describes the nominee’s outreach contributions in the arts.
- A one- to three-page career summary of the nominee (NOT Curriculum Vitae).
- One letter of recommendation from a project partner that discusses the impact of the nominee’s work on the larger community.

Eligibility: UW–Madison faculty or staff

DEADLINE: NOVEMBER 9, 2018 3:00pm

The UW–Madison Division of the Arts is accepting applications for the 2019 Edna Wiechers Arts in Wisconsin Award. The Wiechers Award seeks to enrich cultural offerings and inspire future artists in Wisconsin communities underserved by the arts. The award of $3,500 supports faculty or staff in the creation of new art works in areas both emerging and traditional and/or the presentation of new or existing works of art across the state.

Applications must include the items detailed in the following checklist. All items are required unless otherwise noted:

Submit as a single pdf
   ❑ A brief synopsis of the proposed project (up to 150 words)
   ❑ Project narrative no longer than five double-spaced pages that details
      o Significance of the proposed project, including potential impact of the award on the applicant’s career, home department, and the standing of the arts on campus
      o Expected completion date
      o How the awarded funds will be utilized, and justification of why the funds are needed at this time
      o Whether funding has been received or requested from other sources for this same project
   ❑ A brief biography written in third person for the general public (up to 250 words)
   ❑ Update on any past projects funded by a Division of the Arts award.

Additional supplemental materials
   ❑ Relevant supporting materials (images, videos, recordings, or writing samples) that provide insight into the applicant’s vision for his or her project or endeavor. Selected samples of earlier work are optional.
   ❑ An optional CV may be submitted to supplement the biography.
